From the Desk of Pastor Vaswig

"But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people, in order that you may proclaim the mighty acts of God who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light." (1 Peter 2:9) So states the author of 1 Peter in a grand claim for God's beloved baptized. We have been studying 1 Peter in these last few weeks and this is a verse in the book which stands out. While the verse seeks to indicate the special nature of a relationship established by the Holy Spirit with the community of the baptized it has simultaneously over the years been used as a means to indicate superiority. "A chosen race" — wow, is that a dangerous thing to say. In a time where racism of varying kinds manifests itself to suggest one race or one people has a special designated status before God can be easily misconstrued. Or consider "a holy nation." An equally dangerous phrase when improperly understood. When nationalism is on the rise throughout the world and many countries are enacting xenophobic, anti-immigrant platforms, we need to be very careful in our understanding of what the author of 1 Peter is actually trying to indicate.

The best way to get at the author's intent is to view the same through our mutual callings as the beloved baptized. The author elaborates on the same when he says that "we have been called out of darkness into His marvelous light." Which suggests we have been enlightened by the Spirit to exude the love of God in Jesus Christ. Remember in the Rite of Holy Baptism "Let your light so shine before others that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in heaven." So our "status" as the baptized should translate not into formats of religious or cultural imperialism but rather as those who seek to manifest God's love for the sake of the world. Such love always takes on a characteristic of humility before God and others. Such love is inconsistent with projecting superiority over anyone. So when we read this line from 1 Peter we do so carefully, conversationally always remembering the intent of the line to embolden the baptized to live into their (our) callings as God's beloved. Never suggesting haughtiness or arrogance but rather callings to mutually love one another and the world for the cause of the Crucified and Resurrected One. God bless each of you as you seek to live out your baptisms faithfully.

Pastor John L. Vaswig

Our Savior Lutheran Church

From the Council Presidents

Chuck Bachman & Bob Johnson

Bob and I have always found it easier to get to know fellow attendees by working and studying side by side. Community can start by attending worship services. Bible study, kitchen crews, worship teams, building and grounds and endowment committee are just a few of the many ways to enrich your life at Our Savior Lutheran. We have both been long time B. and G. members. We don't do good works to achieve salvation but to celebrate our faith in Christ. I'm sure the meals team and community outreach members feel the same way. One of my most interesting committees I was on, was the call committee. I learned so much about other churches by meeting prospective pastors for our church. The awesome treats Joan Friel brought, helped too.

Saturday, Oct 22nd will be a grounds clean-up day from 9am to noon. Volunteers are needed whether for one hour or three. We will have leaves to rake, pot holes to fill and weeds to pull. We have a Shepherd of the Hills Icon to install, too. A life size wood carving of Jesus will go up in the entry way.

Pastor Vaswig's sermon on Sept. 25 was from Luke chapter 17 about the rich man and Lazarus. The last verse has always stayed with me about the present time nearly 2000 years after Christ has died; "He said to him, (the rich man) If they do not listen to Moses and the prophets, neither will they be convinced even if someone rises from the dead". We long for a new prophet but sometimes it's as simple as "showing we are Christians by our love" (and good works).

Faith and good works go hand in hand. OSLC has many members who belong to the local Kiwanis club which does good work in our community. Others start something new, like John and Stacy Smith doing a monthly cleanup in Issaquah. Diane and Doug Tanner have long been advocates for community helping. Whether you do your good works thru OSLC, on your own or part of other organizations, we salute you.

First Peter Study: Noon and Evening Bible gatherings continue

The biblical writing of First Peter has often been called an epistle of courage, while simultaneously an epistle of hope. Courage and hope are qualities we are called to as God's beloved.

Join us at noon for bring-your-own lunch, and for dinner at 5:45 (meal provided), we will be exploring the book of First Peter together as a community of faith.

A baptismal letter written to a persecuted community in the 1st century, the book's message remains pertinent to our own lives of faith. Come and join your fellow members of the household of faith as we enjoy fellowship and conversation.

There will be no classes on Wednesday, October 5; the study will resume Wednesday Oct. 12.

Northwest Washington Synod

The Spirit

Bishop Shelley Bryan Wee

From the Bishop:

“Sometimes it’s boring.

Sometimes it’s thrilling.

Sometimes it makes me cry.”

(Quote from “The Wonderful Ordinarity of Congregational Life” by Cheryl Fullerton, Christian Century, March 2022)

Recently I was thinking about church. (Full disclosure ... I think about church quite a bit.) But, in particular, I was thinking about the rhythm of church life. And I think the above quote from Cheryl Fullerton sums it up pretty nicely.

Sometimes it’s boring

I admit, sometimes there is something that is uninteresting about church. Perhaps it is the repetitive nature of it. Perhaps it is the cyclical nature of things. Perhaps it is seeing the same people in the same pew week after week and year after year.

We know that Fred will sing the hymns out of tune ... every time. We know that Mary will cluck her tongue at someone’s tattoo peeking out from their sundress. We know that Mike will fall asleep during the sermon, and we know that Dan will try to share the peace with every single person. We know that the children will fidget. We know that the baby might cry. We know that we have rituals and sacraments and prayers that we say each week. We know that sometimes we won’t hear the utter preposterousness and absurdity and utterly amazing news that Jesus loves each of us and all of us – that sometimes this message sails over our heads because we’re too busy looking at the bulletin.

And yet ...

Sometimes it’s thrilling

I always get goosebumps when I hear the words, “I baptize you in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.” I rejoice each Easter when we all shout, “He is risen! He is risen indeed!” Candles lit in darkness bring hope and light on Christmas Eve. When I am privileged to place bread in people’s hands and I see young, old, wrinkled, black, white, brown hands reaching out for Jesus, it is truly miraculous.

We know that Fred cares for his wife with Alzheimer’s. We know that Mary still grieves her daughter. We know that Mike works the late shift, and we know that Dan only leaves his group home for church. We know that the children will hear of Jesus. We know that the baby will grow up in the community of elders. We know that sometimes we will hear and understand, if even for a moment, the utter preposterousness and absurdity and utterly amazing news that Jesus loves each of us and all of us.

And so ...

Sometimes it makes me cry

Church is not for the faint-hearted. Church is not for people who only want to be with their own kind. Church is for the young, the middle-aged and the old. The healthy and the sick. The spiritually depleted and the spiritually full. Those who are seeking, those who are exhausted, and those who are filled with fire for justice. We all come together. The Freds and Marys and Mikes and Dans. And we sing and we pray, and we receive Jesus, in community, together.

Church is wonderfully boring and thrilling. We catch glimpses of the divine amongst the coffee pot and petty disagreements. We see Mary hug the tattooed young girl after she is baptized. We see Mike exchange high fives with Dan. We see Fred with tears singing at the top of his lungs, "I Know that My Redeemer Lives."

There is nothing like church.

"Sometimes it's boring.

Sometimes it's thrilling.

Sometimes it makes me cry."

Lutheran Counseling Network Faith and Everyday Life October 2022

Psalm 34:18

I recently visited Rancho La Hermosa orphanage near Primotapia, Mexico. In this orphanage there were more than 20 children, who previously had been living on the streets. The mission of the orphanage is to rescue children from the streets and provide them with school, clothing, food and a future. I saw God's light in these children. I saw them playing and enjoying their summer vacation with clothing, good food, love and care. Ordinary people are donating their time and money to build school rooms and more dorms to continue restoring these children.

Seeing the work the orphanage is doing changes my perspective on how to give back. I realize one week is not enough to really help others. I have been thinking of ways to continue the call to help others. There are many in our communities that need help. My plan is to be able to do that.

This is what God calls the church to do. God calls us to help widows and orphans. To show each child that they are valuable and worthy of love and care. That God has loved them from the beginning of time. God knew about each of them before mom or dad or anyone else. He calls his creation perfect. He never makes mistakes and has a purpose for each of these children.

How has God blessed you and called you to help others? I invite you to ask God to reveal how you can help in your community, your church, or to the ends of the earth.

Giving & Offerings

Your gifts and offerings power the mission and ministry of OSLC. Regular contributors are the heart and soul of keeping the doors open, the ministries funded, and the community support, well, supported! We are so thankful for all who give of their time and treasure.

There are several ways to support the church regularly, even when traveling or 'snow-birding', using the technology that most of us use all the time.

You can set up automatic recurring donations through your bank or credit card with online banking services. This is usually free of charge to you and the church.

You can give through the church website (www.oslcissaquah.org) or download the Vanco Mobile app from the app store on your device. Note that Vanco does charge a fee to the church, though the service is free to users.

If you must take Required Minimum Distributions from your retirement accounts, they can be donated (all or part) directly to the church as a tax-deductible gift.

If you're a Thrivent investor, you earn Thrivent Choice Dollars. This is one way Thrivent gives back—they provide the Choice Dollars, and you choose where to donate them! You can direct your Thrivent Choice Dollars to OSLC with the click of a button.

Did you know you can support OSLC when you buy from Amazon? Their SMILE program supports many non-profit organizations—if you shop on Amazon, you can opt in to send some of that support our way.

Surely there are many more ways to support OSLC; put on your thinking cap, and if you find another one or three, share the word! Others may enjoy knowing about other ways to support the congregation.

Questions? Contact Financial Secretary, Lena Schaper by email at oslc_financialsecretary@hotmail.com.
