From the Desk of Pastor Vaswig

"For All the Saints who from their labors rest": so begins the hymn found in the ELW #422. Actually, in the same hymnal there are eleven hymns dedicated to the Festival of All Saints occurring on the 1st of November, but we will celebrate on All Saints Sunday, November 6th. All Saints Day or All Saints Sunday is considered a festival in the life of the church, albeit not a major festival like Easter, Christmas, and Pentecost. The origins of the festival and the November 1st date established for All Saints goes back to Pope Gregory (731-741) when he dedicated a chapel in St. Peter's Cathedral to the lives of the saints who have gone before us. All Saints Day has been celebrated in the Protestant tradition not so much as a recognition of individual saints, but as a celebration of the saints we have been made in holy baptism.

I have always had a liking for the All Saints Day or All Saints Sunday festival. There is something meaningful about pondering the lives of the saints who have gone before us even in the ringing of the bells as names are spoken for those who have died since last All Saints Day. On All Saints Sunday I tend to consider my parents who raised me in the faith and brought me to the holy waters of grace. I reflect on the lives of the many whom I have pastored over the years and the wonder and mystery of a life dedicated to the cause of Christ and His church.

This year we are delighted to have two baptisms on All Saints Sunday, McKenzie and Brody Henry, who have been very active as our recent acolytes and now will be plunged into the waters of hope. It is such a great day for a baptism as we together ponder the lives of the saints and consider the baptismal covenant we all live under. On All Saints Sunday I invite you to reflect on the saints who have gone before you, and yes, the saints alive and well around you. I invite you to give thanks for the saint you have been made in holy baptism and embrace the challenge of living into that same saintliness. A most blessed All Saints Day/All Saints Sunday.

Pastor John L. Vaswig

Our Savior Lutheran Church

From the Council Presidents

Chuck Bachman & Bob Johnson

On Sunday, the 23rd of October, the message was from Luke 18:9-14. Paraphrasing, it was about the Pharisee praising himself for all his good deeds and the tax collector asking God to be merciful to him as a sinner. Pastor Vaswig later talked about members of our church who volunteer many hours complaining about those who don't help out. When I was a member of a Kiwanis club in Kent, we called the non-helpers the knife and forkers.

It was a term to describe members who showed up for the luncheon meetings, but did little else. The label wasn't a negative, but an acknowledgment some members couldn't or wouldn't give more. We were grateful for their presence but wished we could get them to give a little more.

We are at one of those frustrating crossroads. It is time to start interviewing candidates for a permanent pastor. As much as we like Pastor John, his ability to help congregations merge is in high demand with the Bishop. We need seven members for this very important committee. We need a few more Lutherans to step forward. It is a three to six month commitment. They will meet almost exclusively by Zoom once a week. Council members have gotten a lot of no's and are hesitant to ask others who have turned us down in the past. Please respectfully pray about this.

November 20th will be our semi-annual congregational meeting. We are hoping to present our call committee to the congregation at this time and also get two members for our endowment committee. It will be a Pie Social. Bring a pie to share.

From the Site Planning Team

Dear OSLC Congregation,

It is with disappointment that your Site Team must share with you that the Issaquah Food and Clothing Bank decided not to continue their partnership with OSLC. This decision was not an easy one for them and was mostly related to the high risk associated with funding such a big project. They were very supportive and complimentary of all the hard work OSLC invested in studying this project. With Meriwether Advisors, your Site Team will continue to explore new opportunities.

We will continue in confidence of knowing that the Holy Spirit remains with us in the “Service toward others” mission of Our Savior Lutheran Church.

The second Sunday of every month, there will be a short puppet show during the coffee and fellowship hour. If you are willing to be a puppeteer, please contact Marlice Gilmore at (425)391-6614.

Join us on Sunday, November 13 for the next show!

Holiday Gift Barn is almost here!

Starting Sunday, Nov. 13, Community Outreach will be collecting Gift Cards for Issaquah Food Bank's Holiday Gift Barn. There will be a Thanksgiving Tree in the Narthex. Take a leaf and purchase a Gift Card for one of the stores listed. Drop in basket next to tree. We will collect them Sundays, 11/13, 11/20 & 11/27. As we give thanks for our blessings this month, let us be a blessing to others in our Community.

From the Issaquah Food & Clothing Bank:

The Gift Barn Program is our biggest holiday event and is our way of helping parents provide holiday gifts to their families. We are hosting the event at the IFCB this year on December 2-3. Parents with children 18 and younger in our clothing service area can receive gift cards, games, stocking stuffers, and gift wrap.

Issaquah Food & Clothing Bank

HOLIDAY GIFT BARN

We need your help to provide gift cards! Families have shared, repeatedly, over the past couple of years how invaluable gift cards are for holiday support. Gift cards allow parents to choose just the right gifts for their kids in the most convenient way possible, and truly make a significant impact for the holidays. We are seeking donations of $25 gift cards to the retailers our clients use most: Fred Meyer, Target, Walmart, and Amazon.

And, now that holiday shopping is on your mind, don't forget the ELCA Good Gifts Catalog! So many of our families do not need 'goods' but greatly appreciate being remembered at the holidays. Perhaps a Good Gift will bring a smile and warm a heart, while using your gift budget to benefit many beyond our families.

You can find it online at goodgifts.elca.org or pick up a copy from the rack beside the Admin Office at church.

Northwest Washington Synod

The Spirit

Bishop Shelley Bryan Wee

From the Bishop:

I just spoke with one of my friends who attended seminary with me. She is a pastor in the Midwest. And she is a great pastor. She is warm. She is funny. She loves Jesus. She loves the Church. She loves Church so much that she used to attend three different Lutheran churches in a weekend (not counting the church she serves). She feels called by God to be a pastor. But today I had a phone call from her. She was crying. And she said to me (as a friend – not as a bishop), “The thing is I don’t get that much enjoyment out of pastoring for the work involved except God probably wants me to do it. Knowing that is some consolation.”

Recently I heard Pastor Dan White speak about pastor burn-out on a podcast:

“I mean, I’m seeing pastors every week who would never have considered rethinking their call as a pastor, who are doing that every week. And it’s just because things are so broken and hurting and exhausting, and they’re faced with that question now. And they never had to face it before. So I think it’s just kind of flipping over the apple cart, and everything is kind of being questioned.” The New York Times Podcast First Person, July 21, 2022

According to Barna Group*, two out of five pastors have thought about leaving ministry in the last year. This is remarkably higher from previous years. What is the difference? According to Barna, the top reasons include stress, loneliness, and political division. While these three reasons are not new, we know that Covid compounded some of the tensions that already existed. We know that the last two and half years have frayed relationships in ways we did not expect. As Bishop, I know that pastors are leaving congregations at a faster pace than I have ever experienced and the three reasons above are often the reason.

Oof! This makes me sad and anxious. This isn’t how pastoring is supposed to be. As I tell people in premarital counseling, “Sometimes life is hard. Sometimes a relationship is hard. But neither life nor marriage should be hard all the time. Most of the time your relationship should make life better.” And the same holds true for being a pastor. Sometimes pastoring is hard. But it shouldn’t be hard all the time.

So how can we help pastors, and other leaders, who are experiencing stress, loneliness, and political division in the congregation?

If we continue to look at Barna research, it appears that pastors who continue to feel called to ministry responded that even though they might be experiencing stress, loneliness, and political division, they also have support through family, community, and other strong relationships.

How can this happen? How can we build mutually caring and loving relationships with one another? How can we rebuild what Covid frayed? How do we best support and encourage our pastors, deacons, and lay ministry professionals? How can we, together, be the body of Christ for one another?

I'd love to hear your suggestions. What are your thoughts? You are welcome to email me at bishop@lutheransnw.org.

May we mutually uphold and support one another as siblings in Christ.

Lutheran Counseling Network Faith and Everyday Life November 2022

*For surely I know the plans I have for you, says the Lord, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope.
(Jeremiah 28:11)*

In this verse, Jeremiah reassures the people of Israel, who are in captivity in Babylon, that God has a plan for them. But if we read the verse out of context, we can miss the real point of it. Earlier in this chapter, the false prophet Hananiah gives the Israelites the fake promise that God will free them from captivity in Babylon after just two years.

Jeremiah assures the Israelites that God has good things in mind for them, but in a different way than they expect. It's not all about going home, about being delivered from adversity, says God. Instead, God directs the Israelites to "seek the peace and the prosperity of the city to which I have carried you into exile. Pray to the Lord for it, because if it prospers, you too will prosper." (29:7)

God eventually delivers the Israelites from captivity. But not for another generation. God's plan is for this generation to stay put and help prosper the nation that holds them captive. Instead of removing them from their suffering, God promises to be with them in their adversity, and to help them transform it, for the good of all.

It's this way for us as well. We may wish God would free us from suffering. Instead, God promises to be with us in our suffering, giving us a future with hope, and providing us the tools we need to create change, not just for ourselves, but for our children, our neighborhoods, our communities, our world.

Giving & Offerings

Your gifts and offerings power the mission and ministry of OSLC. Regular contributors are the heart and soul of keeping the doors open, the ministries funded, and the community support, well, supported! We are so thankful for all who give of their time and treasure.

There are several ways to support the church regularly, even when traveling or 'snow-birding', using the technology that most of us use all the time.

You can set up automatic recurring donations through your bank or credit card with online banking services. This is usually free of charge to you and the church.

You can give through the church website (www.oslcissaquah.org) or download the Vanco Mobile app from the app store on your device. Note that Vanco does charge a fee to the church, though the service is free to users.

If you must take Required Minimum Distributions from your retirement accounts, they can be donated (all or part) directly to the church as a tax-deductible gift.

If you're a Thrivent investor, you earn Thrivent Choice Dollars. This is one way Thrivent gives back—they provide the Choice Dollars, and you choose where to donate them! You can direct your Thrivent Choice Dollars to OSLC with the click of a button.

Did you know you can support OSLC when you buy from Amazon? Their SMILE program supports many non-profit organizations—if you shop on Amazon, you can opt in to send some of that support our way.

Surely there are many more ways to support OSLC; put on your thinking cap, and if you find another one or three, share the word! Others may enjoy knowing about other ways to support the congregation.

Questions? Contact Financial Secretary, Lena Schaper, by email at oslc_financialsecretary@hotmail.com.
